What Happened

The Northern Ireland Government wanted to know what people thought about their ideas to save money and make the SmartPass better for people.

The SmartPass gives older and disabled people either free or cheaper fares on buses and trains.

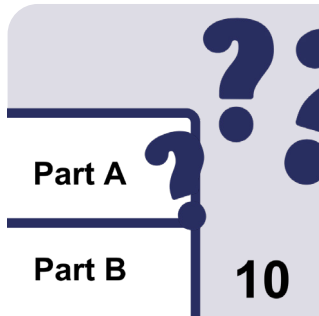

People had to give their answers by 24 August 2023.

20,138 people answered.

The Government asked people about 10 ideas

These were divided into two parts:

- Save money for the future.
- Help the people who need it most.

The survey was available online and in different formats.

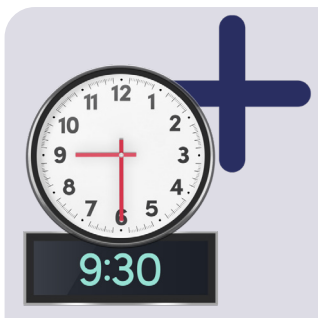

The Government also held 17 meetings to talk to people the changes might affect.

Ideas to Save Money

Raise the age you get a SmartPass.

Change the times you can use your SmartPass.

Only let people use the SmartPass on buses.

Paying for your SmartPass.

What People Thought of Our Ideas To Save Money

- 74% wanted the SmartPass age to stay at 60.

If the age had to be raised, 66% preferred raising the age to 65 instead of to state pension age.

80% wanted older people to be able to use their pass at any time of day.

94% wanted people with disabilities to be able to use their pass at any time of day.

Over 97% of people thought older people should be able to use their SmartPasses on both buses and trains.

99% of people thought that people with disabilities should be able to use their SmartPass on both buses and trains.

54% did not think people should have to pay a fee for the SmartPass.

People thought the ideas to save money could make people feel lonely and unhappy.

People thought that the current plan helps people and the environment.

People thought that not much money would be saved by the ideas and that it would cost older people and people with disabilities more.

People thought the ideas to save money could lead to more car journeys, making the air dirty.

The SmartPass is seen as something older people deserve for working hard.

What the Government Decided

After listening to what you said about our ideas to save money:

We are keeping the age you can get your SmartPass at 60 years of age.

You can still use your SmartPass at any time of the day.

You can still use your SmartPass on both buses and trains.

You might have to pay a fee to get your SmartPass.

The government needs to charge a fee because the SmartPass is expensive.

Some groups, such as people with a disability, may not have to pay the fee.

The government will give more information about this in the future.

Ideas to Help People

Free travel for disabled people.

Help for disabled people who cannot travel alone.

Let more disabled people get a SmartPass.

Free travel for people who come to this country to be safe.

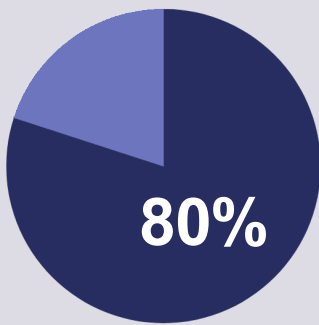

Change the rules about how long you have to live in Northern Ireland to get a SmartPass.

Change what information you have to show to get a SmartPass.

What People Thought of Our Ideas To Help People

80% agreed on free travel for people with disabilities.

79% supported disabled people who cannot travel alone being allowed someone to travel with them on their SmartPass.

81% wanted more disabled people to get a SmartPass.

50.3% did not want free travel for people who have come to this country to get away from war, or people who have been forced to come to this country.

53% wanted to change the rules about how long you have to live in Northern Ireland to get a SmartPass.

74% wanted to change what information you have to show to get a SmartPass.

People thought that helping more people was the right thing to do.

People want the SmartPass to help people feel included and happy.

People think it would be fairer if the SmartPass offered the same travel help as in other countries, like England, Scotland, Wales and the Republic of Ireland.

People thought that the ideas to help people could stop people using cars, making the air cleaner.

People worried about choosing who to help.

People worried that that giving more people free travel would hurt the SmartPass.

People are worried about some people cheating to get a SmartPass.

What the Government Decided

After listening to what you said about our ideas to help more people:

The rules about how long you have to live in Northern Ireland to get a SmartPass will be changed so that it is easier for people to get their card.

The information you have to show to get a SmartPass will be changed so that it is easier for people to get their card.

The government does not have enough money now to bring in these changes:

Free travel for people with disabilities.

Help for disabled people who cannot travel alone.

Let more disabled people have a SmartPass.

Give free travel to people who have come to this country to be safe.

But the money the government has for the Scheme changes each year and we hope we can make these changes in the future.
